CRIT Enrollment
Tushette Booth

Hello, my name is Leo Scott and I am of Mohave descent. I am currently employed as the Acting JDC Administrator for the Colorado River Indian Tribes. My views on any issue is to always do the right thing according to our civil rights as human beings, and the written and approved laws of the land.

My decision to run for an elected position within our Tribe is to help improve the day to day operations of our departments who are having a difficult time hiring new employees. During this pandemic many employees in many departments have been overlooked, and overworked due to the inefficient hiring process of our Tribe which has caused employee burnout and low morale.

In addition, we need to get our tribal people working. We have within our tribal membership highly qualified and intelligent people who have persevered for years to attain their College degrees, and are eager for an opportunity to be of service to our tribal community.

I also believe that any and all tribal members who do not meet the current hiring qualifications should be given the opportunity for employment. Many of our membership just needs a chance to prove themselves and we as a tribe should be there to help. We need to implement a program that specifically helps these members work, and attain the needed qualifications concurrently so that their needs are being met. We are a sovereign nation and the advancement of our membership should come first.

Last but not least to our membership as a whole. We live in a small community and many have not met me personally. It is said that an individual is known for the fruits they bear, and by the content of one's character, anyone that knows me can attest that I have been living an honest life. I am the Husband to Ginger Swick-Scott who is employed as the CRIT Museum Curator for the last fifteen years, and the Father to Stacia Scott and Leo Scott Jr. and a mentor to many youth in our community.

If elected I plan to work hard for the people of our tribe, and not for any outside special interest, nor non-tribal members who do not have our memberships interest at heart. I will be at the tribal office Monday through Friday and will be available to anyone who needs to speak with me. Thank you for your support.

Leo Scott
